How to view photos at a high resolution (usually in perfect shape) is a topic discussed in Book I, Chapter 2. * Layers: You can work with multiple layers to create a complex image in one step. You can apply effects to multiple layers; for example, you can create a background and a photo overlaid on it. * Images: You can turn a graphic into a photo-like image by cropping it or adjusting the image's brightness and contrast. * Color: Color is a critical part of almost any image, so you need to understand how colors work together and how to manipulate color and convert it to grayscale. Towards reliable machine learning classifiers: a Meta-Learning perspective. The aim of this paper is to provide a framework that includes some of the most relevant methodologies that provide a general purpose methodology for Meta-Learning: these methodologies are strong examples of the possibilities offered by the Meta-Learning community. Using a combination of case-studies and our own experimental results on a set of classification tasks and an evaluation procedure that we introduce, we compare and evaluate the Meta-Learning approaches based on the ones that are best suited to solve problems specific to the task: in particular, the problem of selecting the best hyper-parameters. For each case-study, the comparison is also made with several other methods taken from the literature. The comparison method is based on two criteria: precision and recall. As expected, it appears that Meta-Learning approaches outperform the benchmarks, the computational cost of the approaches is however not a relevant issue for this kind of Meta-Learning problems. Furthermore, some of the approaches are more suited to solve some problems than others. $sum = $bucket->calls_more_than(2)->sum('value'); $assertion = $bucket->calls_more_than(2)->assertion('value'); $this->assertEquals(array('number_of_calls_more_than_threshold' => 2,), $assertion); // Don't throw an exception if no records are present $bucket->calls_more_than(3); // Calls_more_than::assertion() returns null for buckets that are empty $assertion = $bucket->calls_more_than(3)->assertion('value'); $this->assertNull($assertion); // Checks the number of calls per bucket $bucket->collect_statistics(); // Checks the number of calls more than the threshold $bucket->calls_more_than(
